Get Those Face Masks Ready

As a new week begins more and more businesses will be requiring customers to wear face coverings. Among those: Food City, Ingles, Walmart, Target, Lowes, Home Depot, and Publix. The list will no doubt grow longer.

Starr Regional Medical Center is urging people to wear face masks or cloth face coverings in public areas where social distancing is not easily achieved. Starr already requires anyone entering its facilities to wear a face mask at all times. John McLain, chief executive officer of Starr Regional, says one of the easiest and most effective things we can do to look out for each other and aid in the fight against COVID-19 is to wear a face mask in public spaces. He says until there is a vaccine, wearing a mask in public, practicing social distancing, and proper hand hygiene are the best lines of defense in reducing the spread of the coronavirus in our community. Recent studies have shown that universal masking can help prevent the spread of COVID-19, especially in people who may be asymptomatic and unaware that they are ill. McLain says by looking out for each other, we'll get through this together.

The McMinn County Health Department has free face masks.

Graffiti Art On Exhibit

The Etowah Historical Commission invites you to check out "Graffiti Art by AirMoe," a display in the Upstairs Gallery of the L&M Depot Museum. The exhibit features paintings by Max Ortiz, also known by his graffiti name as "AirMoe." Ortiz lives in McMinn County, but he grew up in New York and at a young age he noticed the colorful works that street artists were putting on subway trains. By age 11, he was sneaking into rail yards to place his own "tag" on trains. Gradually he switched to painting on canvas. He is shown below with two of his paintings.
