Athens, Tennessee

It's Election Day

Tennesseans who have not voted early will head to the polls today to vote in the State and Federal Primary and County General election. Voters should expect to see signs with safety instructions at their polling locations. Poll officials will be wearing face coverings and have been trained in social distancing protocols. Polls open at various times, depending on the county. All polls in Tennessee close at 8 p.m. EDT. In McMinn County, polls will be open from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. There is a change in one voting location. If you normally vote at the McMinn County Courthouse, you will vote at the McMinn County School Board office today. The biggest race on the ballot is the Republican primary for U.S. Senate to replace Lamar Alexander who is not running for re-election. The two front-runners are Bill Hagerty (below right) and Dr. Manny Sethi (below left).

E.G. Fisher Library To Reopen

The E.G. Fisher Public Library in Athens is planning to reopen to the public next Monday, August 10th. Initially the hours will be Monday-Friday from 9:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Every visitor 5 and older will be required to wear a face mask. The number of patrons in the library will be limited to 15 at a time and there will be a one-hour limit on visits. The most vulnerable people are invited to visit the library between 9:30 and 11:30 a.m. Interim Director Peyton Eastman says curbside service will continue to be offered with a limit on 10 items. You need to phone the library the day before with the items you would like to check out. Computers will continue to be available for those who want to use one. Eastman is serving as interim director following the departure of Katie Brady who has taken a library job elsewhere.

ETOWAH CITY HALL CLOSED BY VIRUS

The Etowah City Hall has been closed to the public after a staff member tested positive for COVID-19. That person will not return to work until they have received a negative test or show no symptoms for at least 10 days. City Hall will reopen on Monday, August 10th, after a thorough sanitation. Beginning Monday, all persons who come into City Hall beyond the lobby will have their temperature checked and are asked to wear a mask. No staff or delivery persons showing a temperature of over 100.4 degrees will be allowed into City Hall. Staff with a temperature will be tested and will be required to stay at home pending test results.
