177 New Laws Take Effect in Tennessee on July 1

Beginning July 1, Tennesseans will see the impact of 177 new laws passed by the state legislature, covering a wide range of issues including education, criminal justice, immigration, health-care, and child welfare.

Among the most notable changes is the expansion of the state's school voucher program and the introduction of new immigration laws passed during a special legislative session earlier this year.

A full list of the new laws is available through the Tennessee General Assembly's website and public information offices.

Key changes include:

- Harsher Penalties for Child Abuse and underage hemp sales
- Stronger consequences for non-consensual, exploitative photography
- Foster care services extended to young adults up to age 23

- Laser pointer misuse near vehicles or aircraft now a criminal offense
- New protections against organized retail crime
- Reporting requirement for foreign buyers of Tennessee farmland
- Mandatory behavioral training for some misdemeanor offenders
- Hybrid learning days allowed during extreme weather
- Hospitals must provide post-birth health info to new mothers
- Wineries exempted from the liquor-by-the-drink tax

These changes reflect growing state attention on child safety, public health, law enforcement, and consumer protections.

MOOFEST 2025 A RESOUNDING SUCCESS!

The proverbial dust has settled, reports have been filed and the results are in – MooFest 2025 can be called a community success with over 15,000 in attendance! And that success is due to the countless weeks, days and hours of planning and implementation on the part of our presenting sponsors, corporate sponsors, 280 vendors, entertainers, activities and Team Moo committee members!

First off, I'd like to give a big moo-out to our AgAvenue presenting sponsor Mayfield Dairy Farms. Special thanks to Elisha Elliott and Angie Melhorn with Mayfield's for putting together a great day of tribute to our area dairy farmers. From the milk toast to the fun filled AgAvenue in Market Park, it was a great way to celebrate our dairy rich heritage in a fun and informative way. We are so appreciative of the many folks who were under the big tent and at Market Pavilion that contributed so much to the festival- Tennessee Farm Bureau's Ag in the Classroom, Brooke Cass and McMinn 4-H, Sara Smith and Keep McMinn Beautiful, Elisa Carpenter with The Dairy Alliance, Dr. Kerri Prince with her mini herd of dairy cows, and Jason Fetzer with DFA member services. Thank you for all your behind-the-scenes support that doesn't always get its due recognition.

A festival is made up of many moving parts and we're fortunate to have several community groups participating this year. The Athens Lions Club's 17th Annual Moo Run kicked off the day at Eureka Trail with 48 runners and six walkers with all proceeds going to vision programs sponsored by the club. The McMinn Regional Humane Society reports that two cats and all dogs on the S.O.S. list were adopted and the first Mr. and Miss MooFest Pageant produced by Wheeler Dance Productions had a great turnout. The McMinn Education Foundation signed up several families for their Imagination Library program and gave out over 750 books at the Let's Read 20 Colorful Bus.

A festival of this magnitude is only as good as its committee and the Friendly City Festival MooFest group is one of the best when it comes to throwing a party! Their "whatever it takes" attitude certainly made my life easier and putting on a festival a breeze!

Thank you to Joel Webb, Integrity Sound Solutions, for providing sound for the Courthouse Steps and Market Pavilion Stage. Special thanks to Ronnie Raper for letting us use his sound system at the Downtown Beauty Lounge Stage. Festival goers were certainly entertained by Jim Brooks with his grandson Rafe Paul, Logan Cross, Nina Ricci and Roscoe Morgan on the Courthouse Steps. Further Up The Road started the line up at the Market Pavilion Stage followed by JCreek Cloggers, Cole Sitzler and Emi Sunshine kicking off the 16th season of Sounds of Summer. Downtown Beauty Lounge hosted Ronnie Raper's music students and the Mr. and Miss MooFest pageant.

I can't thank Scott Bridwell enough for taking on the daunting task of coordinating logistics and making everything come off without a hitch. Thanks to Athens City Parks and Recreation for installing the portable electric panels, delivering the Market Pavilion stage and maintaining the Market Park bathrooms and Pavilion trash cans.

We are thankful for the use of tables and chairs graciously loaned to us by the McMinn County Living Heritage Museum. Joy Early/McMinn County Mayor's office gave us invaluable back up with logistics and coordinating the County Inmate Work Detail for delivering and picking up tables and chairs from the Museum. Thanks, Grace House, for making quick work out of breaking down the tables and chairs after the festival. And we appreciate Jackie and Todd Newman for letting us store the tables and chairs after the festival in their Cherokee Hardware building.

Applause to Ben Burchfield and Deb Goins of Public Works and their entire crew for scheduling street closings, working on vendor booth space markings, dumpster delivery and trash pickup. Hats off to Mayor Larry Eaton for all his help with set up and vendor check-in and we so appreciate the use of the McMinn County Sheriff's Department for the use of their ATV as well.

Kudos to Brianna Baker, Michael Priest and Stefani Burchfield along with Bill Beasley for the countless hours they spent coordinating vendors, spread sheets, maps and vendor check in! Their hands-on expertise certainly made things go smoothly for our 280 vendors and we couldn't have a festival without them! Special thanks to Jonathan Womac, Hugh and Chelsey Willson, Frank Clark, Jake Ferrar and Scott Bridwell for making sure vendor check in went smoothly and questions were answered. And Leanne Malloy/Athens Web Designs made sure Friendly City Festival's website was informative and up to date.

And, thanks to all our local downtown businesses that supported the festival for the day. Our heartfelt thanks to our corporate sponsors who, thanks to their generous support, enable us to present these festivals free of charge: The City of Athens Tourism Fund, McMinn County Tourism Board, Madison Avenue Pharmacy, Athens Kiwanis Club, Mayfield Dairy Farms, Tennessee Overhill, Tennessee Arts Commission, Athens Insurance, Valley Oil, WarrenJackson CPAs, Simmons National Bank, Simmons Trust Department, Citizens National Bank of Sevier County, VEC Customer Shares, Pendleton's Playground, Kona Ice, DENSO, Starr Regional Medical Center, Tonya Phenix and The Retirement Guys.

Media and public relations support came from: The Daily-Post Athenian, The Morning Fax, 3 Rivers Radio Group, WCLE Mix 104, WRCB-Channel 3, WDEF-Channel 12 and WBIR-Channel 10 Knoxville. As you can see, it truly takes a community to pull off an endeavor such as this and no one does it better than McMinn County and Athens, Tennessee. Be sure to join us for the remainder of the 13th Annual Sounds of Summer concert series and Pumpkintown October 11th!

Athens Fire Department Installs Safe Haven Baby Box

A new Safe Haven Baby Box will be officially blessed on June 27 in Athens, providing a safe and anonymous option for parents to legally surrender a newborn in crisis. The box is located at the Athens Fire Department at 815 N. Jackson St.

The addition marks a significant step for the city in protecting infants and offering compassionate alternatives to abandonment. Athens joins over 350 locations nationwide—22 of them in Tennessee—equipped with these secure, climate-controlled boxes that notify first responders immediately when a baby is placed inside.

The project was made possible with support from local advocate Richelle Simcox and the Safe Haven Baby Boxes organization, founded by Monica Kelsey. Since 2017, more than 150 newborns nationwide have been safely surrendered using these boxes.

Each case is handled in cooperation with the Department of Family Services to ensure the child's well-being and future care.
